000 Emergency Services

You can call 000 emergency services through all of Crazytel's SIP Trunking / PBX networks. However, it is recommended that you do this through a Mobile service or a physical PSTN landline if you have one available in the event you have to make an emergency call. Crazytel accepts no responsibility for you not being able to make or receive emergency calls while your service is unavailable regardless of the unavailable reason. We highly recommend that emergency calls are made from your primary landline or mobile service. VoIP, in comparison, can be susceptible to service disruption as it relies on third-party infrastructures such as your internet provider and electricity infrastructure. It is recommended that you have a non-powered telephone handset at your residence or business to make emergency calls in the unlikely event of a blackout/disruption.

Information about pricing

Uptime Guarantee:

This applies if you have connected your service according to “Crazytel” minimum recommendations, which is with Quality Assured equipment (as shown on our hardware approved page on our website which can be found at www.Crazytel.com.au , a dedicated DSL2+(minimum) connection for the IP traffic and our hosted IPBX configured by our in-house team. The amount of downtime during a calendar month will be determined by Crazytel in-House network team and does not include any scheduled maintenance or upgrade outages. If this is more than 0.001%, on application, we will credit you double the value of the time that was down, dependent on the plan that you are on at the time of the outage. If your internet connection or local power supply is at fault this does not qualify.
